Iconic cosmopolitan buildings require all the stakeholders to strike the right balance between a host of parameters from conceiving the correct design to specifying the optimum materials and finally putting them together in place to materialise the epochal building envelope. What can not be missed here is the extensive quality checks at every stage to ensure what is delivered is in line with what is proposed.

Despite a general slowdown that the Indian industry has been witnessing, building construction industry in Andhra Pradesh and newly formed Telangana has succeeded in continuing the momentum it gained after the last few years of territorial troubles. The joint capital Hyderabad, is home to some of the most innovative and acclaimed modern architectural landmarks with glittering bespoke fenestration, which are holistic and high performing, research driven and sustainable. This utmost responsibility for efficiency and sustainability can only be achieved by precision engineering and exploring novel ideas for sustainable designs.

Addressing the performance and functional aspect of this critical element of architecture, Zak World of Windows, after successfully completing 13 editions in various cities of India, comes back to Hyderabad and will be held at The Park, on 26 October, 2018.

The forum will aim at the proper understanding of fenestration and shall address the issues like design and application challenges, measuring the performance of windows and their affectivity in bringing life to the interior spaces. The experts from the respective fields will engage in a panel discussion debating some of the pressing technical issues vis-a-vis sustainability through windows, functionality and usability, etc. Not to be missed is the opportunity to explore finest new technologies and products, which will be on display and help redefine the way windows are perceived..

Organized by Zak Trade Fairs & Exhibitions, this will be a part of the build up to the mega exhibitions on Glass, Fenestration & Aluminium Extrusions to be held in Mumbai from the 06 - 09 December 2018.

As seating is limited, register your seats early and get to hear from the most illuminated minds of the industry. The seminar will be followed by networking dinner & refreshments.
